FOR IMMEDIATE RELEASE:

ORTHODOLOGY ACQUIRES SPORTS AND SPINAL PHYSICAL THERAPY IN WASHINGTON, D.C.

WASHINGTON, D.C., August 20, 2015 - Orthology, an innovative, cost-effective solution for rapid recovery from back and body injuries, chronic pain, and orthopedic surgeries, as well as ongoing 'TuneUp' wellness care, has acquired Sports and Spinal Physical Therapy (SSPT) at 2175 K Street NW in Washington, D.C. In addition to physical therapy, SSPT also offers running assessments, bike fits, Pilates, and trigger point dry needling.

Based on a patent-pending, research-based methodology developed by Orthology Chief Clinical Officer Dr. Josh Sandell, DC, DACBSP, ICSSD, Orthology rapidly resolves injuries, restores function, and improves athletic performance. Delivered by highly trained Collaborative Care teams of Physical Therapists, Chiropractors, and Soft Tissue Specialists—and proven on some of the world's greatest professional athletes—Orthology targets the root cause of pain in order to get each person back to living life to the fullest as quickly as possible.

"Sports and Spinal Physical Therapy is a leading health and wellness facility. Their excellent practitioners and attention to patients make this a natural partnership for Orthology as we expand to the Washington, D.C. area," said Dr. Sandell.

"At Sports and Spinal Physical Therapy we see physical therapy as one aspect of an integrated approach to health care. The team at Orthology shares our commitment to providing exceptional, comprehensive care to our patients," said SSPT President Sarah Thorpe.

Orthology, which opened its first location in 2014, has seven locations in Minnesota and additional locations opening in New York City. Orthology will also open this fall at 4825 Bethesda Avenue in Bethesda, Maryland. Orthology accepts most major insurance plans.
